

Wanted: Social Media Heroes

Some heroes wear helmets. Others have a head for social media and an investigative spirit...so put your digital skills to use during disasters and large-scale emergencies. Yes, you can really help to save lives!

The Connecticut Virtual Operations Support Team (CTVOST) is a group of community volunteers whose mission is to assist emergency responders by monitoring and analyzing social media for important information and communications trends posted during emergencies.

We need social media enthusiasts to join our team!

- Receive free training on how to use and monitor social media during disasters and large-scale emergencies
- “Deploy” from the closest computer or mobile device
- Connect and network with other social media peers

SIGN UP TODAY!

Scan the barcode above or
For more information contact
Sara Darlagiannis, CT VOST
Coordinator at skruczek@zoho.com

Find us on facebook.com/ctvost/ and Twitter @ct\_vost

